Secret Hero

Twelve pages to color, cut, trace, make and talk about, all from the story.
The value in this book: kindness.

For use in your own home. Please don't share the file or post it online.

For grown-ups

Read the story first, then pick one page a day. Each page takes 10 to 20 minutes. There are no wrong answers.

The big idea

Being kind means helping because it makes someone's day better, even if nobody knows it was you.

Say it together

Who did this?

Five words from the story

Word	What it means	Do it
secret	something only you know	put a finger to your lips
shy	a bit nervous around others	peek through your fingers
fix	to make something work again	pretend to tap with a little hammer
hero	someone who helps others	stand tall with hands on hips
kindness	being gentle and helpful to others	make a heart with your hands

A gentle note

Saying thank you and being seen are good things too. Bunny's quietness is his choice, not a rule for everyone.

Real-life safety: children help with a grown-up and in daylight. They shouldn't fix pipes or go out alone at night.

What you need

Crayons, a pencil, scissors, glue or tape, a few craft sticks or straws, and the book (or read it free on screen at doubleadventure.ca).

Meet the friends

Cut out each card along the dashed line. Tape a craft stick on the back and you have a puppet. Act out the story!

Bunny

Eastern cottontail

A small, shy rabbit who helps others in secret

Mama Bird

American robin

Loses an egg in the wind, and gets it back

The turtle

Blanding's turtle

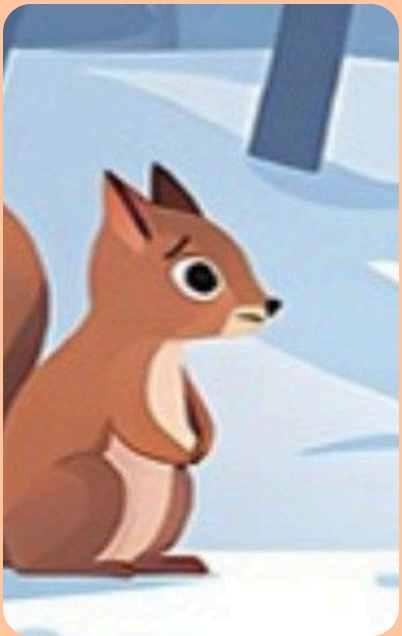

Needs the watering hole

The deer and fawn

White-tailed deer

Can't find food in the snow

The squirrel

American red squirrel

Spots Bunny's secret

The monkey

Chimpanzee

Inspired to help, clears the water paths

How did they feel?

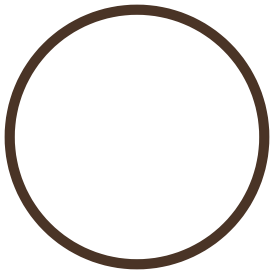

Feelings change during a story. Talk about each moment, then draw how the character felt.

Moment 1

The watering hole dries up.

Draw the face. Then circle a word.

sad scared worried happy brave proud calm

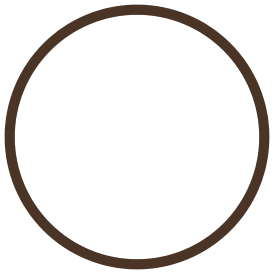

Moment 2

Scrape-scrape! Swish-swish! Bunny clears the snow.

Draw the face. Then circle a word.

Moment 3

The forest fills with hidden kindness.

Draw the face. Then circle a word.

Draw your own story

Bunny showed kindness. Draw a time when you showed kindness too, or a time you could.

Tell a grown-up: What happened? How did you feel? How did the other person feel?

Make and do

Pick one to try today. Each one comes straight from the story.

Who did this?

You need: A small surprise (a drawing, tidied blocks)

Before children arrive, the teacher does a small kind ‘secret’ act. Children notice it and ask, ‘Who did this?’ Talk about how it felt to find the surprise.

Secret helper

Do one kind thing today without telling anyone. How did it feel to keep it secret?

Zigzag race

Run in a zigzag like a cottontail. Is it harder for someone to catch you?

Robin's egg blue

Find something in your home that's robin's egg blue.

Draw what you made

The real animals

The animals in Secret Hero are based on real ones. Here is something true about each of them.

Bunny

Eastern cottontail

A cottontail can run about 29 km/h.

Mama Bird

American robin

Their eggs are so famous that 'robin's egg blue' became a colour name.

The turtle

Blanding's turtle

In 2014, as few as six Blanding's turtles were left in the Rouge Valley.

The deer and fawn

White-tailed deer

A newborn fawn weighs only 1.5 to 2.5 kg.

Story or real?

The book calls its hero Bunny and doesn't name the kind of rabbit, so we picked the eastern cottontail, the most common wild rabbit in North America. Real ones are shy too!

Where they really live

The book's forest has no name, so we picked Rouge National Urban Park, a big wild park right in Toronto, where people are helping turtles come home.
